

Prof McGonigall

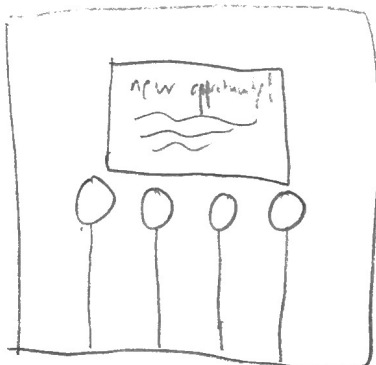

Prof McGonigall wants some help for a new research project she is starting.

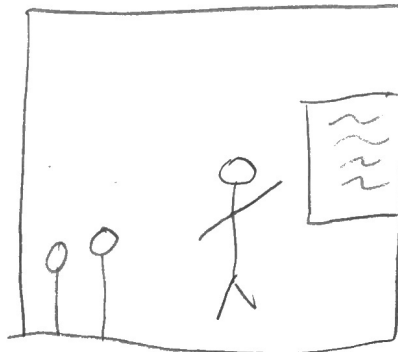

He thinks about what kinds of students he needs as assistants and how much he wants to pay.

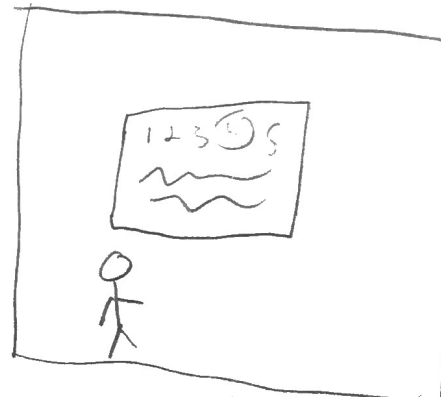

He uses the patfelic system to create a public research event and set options for pay.

Students who are interested register for the event.

Prof McGonigall now proceeds to do her research with her new RAS.

Afterwards, students leave their feedback and reviews so Prof McGonigall can think about later.
